

A word from our corporate sponsors

"Great cause, great team and a great time. It was fantastic working with you on the Press Ball. And what a result! Congratulations."

John Brogden
Managing Director
Napp Pharmaceuticals

"Marshall of Cambridge has enjoyed a very warm relationship with Cambridge Newspapers Limited over very many years and have been delighted to help them with a number of charity initiatives. We were particularly pleased to be associated with the inaugural charity Press Ball, 'A Flight of Fantasy' and we wish Press Relief every success in the future."

Terry Holloway
Group Support Executive
The Marshall Group of Companies

"The Cambridge Evening News Charity Press Ball was a truly sparkling event with every detail meticulously taken care of. A great opportunity for anyone wishing to show support to a most worthy cause and one we were proud to sponsor. The event gave us an opportunity to entertain clients at a unique event, they were delighted and so were we."

Janet Richardson
General Manager
Crowne Plaza

"We are pleased to have been involved with Press Relief and the Cambridge Evening News for the Bridge the Gap event in 2003, and are looking forward to supporting the 3rd walk this year. It is a fantastic venture, which will benefit lots of groups and individuals in Cambridgeshire, and we hope it continues to go from strength to strength."

Bob Pearson
Head of Press & Public Relations
Cambridgeshire County Council

"i2 has been delighted to support Press Relief and the various good causes it supports. We feel it is important as a major employer within the area we should support local initiatives and Press Relief has provided us with the perfect vehicle to do this. We have also thoroughly enjoyed participating in the various events and our staff have had a lot of fun from them."

Caroline Brown
Marketing Communications Manager
i2 Limited

We have been delighted to work with the Evening News on the Bridge the Gap initiative. This hugely successful event has been a true partnership and would not have been possible without the involvement of the News. It enables us to raise money for good causes as well as bringing local people into the College grounds. Press Relief is a fantastic new scheme, and we look forward to being involved in the future."

Penny Wilson
Community Relations Co-ordinator
University of Cambridge

"I have been hugely impressed with the Press Relief team in all my dealings with them. They are energetic, professional and tireless in their efforts to raise as much money as possible for local deserving causes. We, at Cambridge University Press, are the main sponsor of the Bridge the Gap Charity Walk each year, which raises money for local hospices. The event has been proved a resounding success, and partnering Press Relief has in turn helped us significantly raise our local profile. Keep up the good work!"
